Taxi Drivers Win 60-Day Strike at Yellow Checker Star Transportation!

Taxi drivers represented by the Industrial, Technical and Professional Employees Union (ITPEU)/OPEIU Local 4873 have won their 60-day strike at Yellow Checker Star Transportation (YCS) in Las Vegas, Nevada. The new contract includes an increase in the drivers’ share of the meter, reinstatement of eligibility for the four-day workweek of 12 hours per day and 10-hours-per-day shifts, increases in annual bonuses, and other benefits. The contract was signed at a ceremony at YCS headquarters on May 2, 2013.

In all, the union negotiated 16 wage and benefit changes to the collective bargaining agreement.

“I’m extremely proud of the fact that we have the loyal support of so many drivers, all of whom are the heart and soul of this struggle,” said International President Michael Goodwin. “These drivers, although enduring a great deal of personal hardship, stood together and proved that through solidarity and collective bargaining, workers can improve their quality of life.”

“The drivers stood strong during a very difficult strike, and now have a contract that brings the 1,800 drivers employed by YCS the respect and dignity they deserve,” said ITPEU/OPEIU Local 4873 President Dennis R. Arrington. “We fought back against the companies’ attempts to force senior drivers to work five or six days per week, at 60 and 72 hours. And all the striking drivers started to return to work on Thursday, May 2.”

OPEIU gratefully acknowledges the support of the International Association of Machinists (IAM), Culinary Workers Union Local 226/UNITEHERE, National Association of Letter Carriers (NALC), Seafarers International Union (SIU), International Brotherhood of Teamsters (IBT), Communication Workers of America (CWA), California School Employees Association (CSEA), Transportation Communication Union (TCU) and American Income Life Insurance Company (AIL) for their generous support and counsel during this prolonged strike.

Appreciation is also given to International President Emeritus Doug Dority of the United Food and Commercial Workers (UFCW) and to Nevada State AFL-CIO Executive Secretary-Treasurer Danny Thompson for their participation, support and counsel during the strike.

OPEIU also appreciates that several organizations, including CWA, Building and Construction Trades Department (BCTD), AFSCME, American Federation of School Administrators (AFSA), American Federation of Teachers (AFT), IATSE, Amalgamated Transit Union (ATU) and the Iron Workers, sent letters in support of the union to YCS.

Finally, OPEIU appreciates the assistance of the United Labor Agency of Nevada (ULAN), which facilitated the distribution of hardship funds to striking drivers.

The 60-day strike began on March 3, 2013, and ended on May 1, 2013.
Workers Fight Back

Since our last convention in 2010, OPEIU members have been involved in many battles with government and employers across the United States at a pace not seen in several years.

Workers have fought back against employer attempts to take away their right to a living wage, cut benefits and demand increased work hours. The employers also demanded changes in collective bargaining agreements to outsource work to nonunion locations. In some situations, the union won and in other situations, the union is still fighting.

In 2011, Governor Scott Walker of Wisconsin initiated legislation that took away the right of public employees to collectively bargain. The majority of citizens in the state are outraged as the living standards and quality of life of their friends and neighbors diminish. Fortunately, in America we have the freedom to respond to such callous acts, and the citizens of Wisconsin will remember when Governor Walker seeks reelection in 2014. They will also remember the members of the legislature who went along with his heinous plans, and the public is optimistic that there will be a radical change in government next year.

In Ohio, Governor John Kasich took on public employees’ right to bargain collectively and was repelled by a resolute citizenry who upset his plan by referendum. In Indiana, Governor Mitch Daniels led the effort to pass a “right-to-work” law that lessens the power of unions to represent workers and lowers wage and benefit standards. In Michigan, Governor Rick Snyder signed a right-to-work law, which became effective March 28, 2013, and the full impact is yet to be seen.

OPEIU members have been affected in all these states. These anti-worker governors and legislators who caused these problems will pay the price at the polls as workers fight back. This sad chapter in American history will not end here — there will be many opportunities to reverse these horrific actions and restore the rights granted to workers in 1935 with the passage of the National Labor Relations Act. To paraphrase the famous General Douglas MacArthur, “We shall return.”

The majority of citizens in the state are outraged as the living standards and quality of life of their friends and neighbors diminish.”

Members have also been involved in two major strikes and a lockout involving thousands of workers, and the strike at the American Red Cross has been rotating for different periods over five years. Led by Local 459’s Joe Marutiak and Lance Rhines, the union has refused to agree to a contract that lowers safety standards and does little to improve wages and working conditions.

The fight at YCS was ‘David versus Goliath...’"

The biggest fight, and the most challenging, came at Yellow Checker Star Transportation (YCS) in Las Vegas, Nevada, when the employer refused to negotiate an increase in the taxi drivers’ share of the meter, demanded elimination of the drivers’ 48-hour/four-day workweek, and replaced it with an employer right to require drivers to work 60 and 72 hours a week over five or six days and elimination of 10-hour shifts in favor of all 12-hour shifts. The fight at YCS was “David versus Goliath,” and ITPEU/OPEIU Local 4873 and their President, Dennis R. Arrington, were up for the challenge. The employer relied on Nevada’s right-to-work law to weaken the union, believing the union had minimal support. But they were wrong, as a majority of the drivers supported the union. The drivers were fighting for an increase in the share of the meter and the right to retain their 48-hour/four-day workweek and their 10-hour shifts.
Work Connects Us All!

The strike began on March 3 and lasted for 60 days until May 1, 2013, when the employer reluctantly agreed to an increase in the drivers’ share of the meter and to withdraw its demands for a longer workday and workweek!

The strike was the longest in the history of the taxi industry in Las Vegas and was the first time ever that the company agreed to an increase in the drivers’ share of the meter! The union won!

The union will continue to give its full support as workers fight back!

OPEIU Bargains First Helicopter Mechanics Contract

OPEIU has bargained its first-ever contract for helicopter mechanics, which provides a 14 percent wage increase over three years, a $3,500 ratification bonus and major improvements in extended tour pay rates. The new unit will be known as Directly Affiliated Group (DAG) 403, Global Helicopter Engineers Association (GHEA).

The contract covers 191 aviation mechanical engineers (AME) employed by CHC Global and working in 18 countries, including Tanzania, Nigeria, Thailand and China. The company is based in Vancouver, Canada, and is owned by a private equity firm in Greenwich, Connecticut. Bargaining took place in Dallas, Texas, where the company’s human resources department is located.

The contract was bargained in only seven days, according to OPEIU Director of Organization and Field Services Kevin Kistler, who led the bargaining. The bargaining committee was comprised of engineers Jay Minor and Yvon Collin, who were assisted by International Representative and Assistant to the President Paul Huertas. The contract is pending member ratification, which was scheduled to take place as this issue went to press.

At a fundraiser held March 13, 2013, to support Terry McAuliffe’s campaign for governor of Virginia, International President Michael Goodwin, Secretary-Treasurer Mary Mahoney and Director of Organization and Field Services Kevin Kistler speak with former President Bill Clinton.
Local 212 Members Vote to Merge with Local 153

On March 21, 2013, the members of Local 212 in Buffalo, New York, voted overwhelmingly to merge with their sister Local 153, which is based in New York City.

“The merger came at a time when Local 212 was experiencing a declining membership,” said Local 212 President Caroline Muszynski. “We realized we could not afford to have a business representative on staff to service our members, and felt we could grow as a Local Union and stay strong in the Western New York area with a much bigger and stronger unit.

“We owed this to our sisters and brothers in Local 212, as they have been supporting us for 65 years,” Muszynski continued. “The members deserve to be in a strong union that will fight for better wages, health insurance and job security.”

Local 212 represents office and clerical employees at nine different employers, including Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Western New York, and has a membership base of approximately 500 members. Local 153 represents workers at the New York Stock Exchange, Emblem Health, Yankee Stadium and the Archdiocese of New York, among many other employers. Local 153 has approximately 16,000 members and will bring the members of Local 212 additional clout in representation and many new benefits and services.

“...We owed this to our sisters and brothers in Local 212, as they have been supporting us for 65 years.”

Remembering MLK in Memphis

By Lisa Blake, President, Local 42, Farmington Hills, Michigan

I had the pleasure and honor of attending, at the request of International President Michael Goodwin, the 45th anniversary event honoring the life of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. held by AFSCME Local 1733 in Memphis, Tennessee. The event, held April 3–4, 2013, brought union members from across the nation to remember the work of Dr. King.

Many of you may recall that Dr. King was killed 45 years ago when he answered the call to help the striking sanitation workers of AFSCME Local 1733. These union members had been disrespected and mistreated by management. Their working conditions... were deplorable. The fact that they were talked down to and called “boys” on a daily basis, as well as the death of two of their co-workers, caused them to say “enough!”

Dr. King was told not to come to Memphis, but he did. Although he was later killed, his march with these sanitation workers was not in vain because they prevailed and received a contract and recognition as men. Their slogan, “I Am a Man,” was part of the celebration held in Memphis.

I attended an event held at the Mason Temple Church of God in Christ, where Dr. King’s son, Martin Luther King III, gave a keynote speech. He told us that we must keep the dream alive and continue as union workers and organized labor to fight for the rights and dignity of all Americans. He also said that the labor movement has always advocated for those who are in need.

Attending the event was uplifting and renewed my understanding of the importance of our J.B. Moss Voice of the Electorate (VOTE) Fund contributions.

There were also speeches from the presidents of both the NAACP and the National Organization for Women (NOW) who asked organized labor to not forget the power of collective bargaining and an informed membership.

The following day, there was a march from the AFSCME Local 1733 office to the National Civil Rights Museum, which is located at the Lorraine Motel where Dr. King was shot and killed. The city of Memphis renamed a street in honor of the AFSCME Local 1733 sanitation strikers.

Attending the event was uplifting and renewed my understanding of the importance of our J.B. Moss Voice of the Electorate (VOTE) Fund contributions. Now more than ever, OPEIU members need to make VOTE contributions so that our International Union can continue the good fight for organized labor and support those elected officials who support working people.
For Nearly Seven Decades,
Work Connects Us All!

We are nurses, engineers, computer programmers, administrative assistants, librarians, accountants and clerks. We work in universities, hospitals, offices, insurance companies, shipping firms, county and city government offices, and manufacturing. We are healthcare professionals, podiatrists, hypnotists, insurance agents, teachers, helicopter pilots, umpires, clinical social workers and many others. We are a diverse group, and we are members of the Office and Professional Employees International Union.

Nearly 70 years ago, we received our charter from the American Federation of Labor as the union for white-collar workers.

Through the years, OPEIU has repeatedly demonstrated to clerical, professional and technical employees a commitment to their needs and the advantages of being represented by such a strong and democratic union.

Through OPEIU, we have struggled in the street, the boardrooms, the halls of Congress and wherever there was a need to represent working people, especially OPEIU members. Sisters and brothers have stood united, shoulder to shoulder, to fight injustice, discrimination and greed and to fight for the dignity and respect we deserve.

We are the Office and Professional Employees International Union. We’re strong and we’re proud, and work connects us all!

Greg Blackman
Region III

Greg Blackman was elected Vice President of Region III at the 25th OPEIU Convention in June 2010. Blackman’s first union job was at age 18 with Amalgamated Transit Union Local 689, working as a railcar cleaner for Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA). He was promoted to many positions in five years at WMATA and left as a Technician.

At the age of 23, Blackman became a Transport Workers Union Local 291 member as an Electronic Technician in Metrorail. He transferred to the automated Metromover system and became a Supervisor and a member of the Government Supervisors Association of Florida at age 29.

Blackman was appointed by the late President Ed Darcy Sr., as a Union Representative at age 31 and represented members in all aspects of contract administration. At age 38, he was elected First Vice President and held that office for nine years.

Blackman trained at Florida International University Labor Center and the George Meany Center for Labor Studies in labor-related subjects, as well as attended Broward College. The most important training came from working with two great labor leaders, Darcy and Richard Ellis, who exemplified the attributes that are the bedrock for building an effective labor union.

In 2007, Blackman became President of GSAF/OPEIU Local 100. He serves as Vice President on the Board of the Florida AFL-CIO and on Miami-Dade County’s Performance and Efficiency Commission.

Blackman continues his desire to grow Local 100 and the labor movement and feels confident that all the tools needed to bring this to fruition lie in the minds of the great leadership that OPEIU cultivates throughout the International Union.

John F. Conley
Region III

John Conley’s interest in labor relations began in 1948 when he joined the National Maritime Union (NMU). He began by serving as a Delegate (Shop Steward) on the majority of the vessels he sailed on, which took him all over the world for the next 20 years. In 1968, he was appointed to a dispatcher’s position at the NMU office in the Port of Boston, and later that year, Conley was transferred to the NMU’s office in the Port of Seattle, Washington, as the union’s Patrolman (Representative). In 1973, he became involved with the NMU’s shoreside division – Industrial, Technical and Professional Employees Union (ITPEU). His first assignment with ITPEU was to organize 300 food service workers at Fort Lewis, Washington.

In 1978, he was transferred to Savannah, Georgia, as the NMU Port Agent. Conley was assigned as the Area II Coordinator for ITPEU contract sites in the Southeastern section of the United States. In 1988, the NMU merged with another union, Marine Engineers Beneficial Association (MEBA).

In 1991, a referendum was approved to restructure the ITPEU, after which it became a separate division within MEBA and elected its own officers. Conley was elected as the Chair of the ITPEU Division. In 1993, the ITPEU became fully autonomous, adopted its own constitution and changed the officers’ titles. Conley held the highest office in ITPEU from 1991 until his retirement in 2012.

In June 2001, the ITPEU disaffiliated from MEBA and on July 1, 2001, affiliated with OPEIU, becoming ITPEU/OPEIU Local 4873. In May of 2007, Conley received the Labor Leader of the Year Award from the Georgia State AFL-CIO. In May 2010, Conley was the recipient of the Ellis Island Medal of Honor in New York City for his outstanding service to his community.

She served as the Secretary-Treasurer of OPEIU Local 42 from 1999 through 2012. She was hired as the Local Union’s Business Agent in 1987.

Kandt is also a National Vice President of the Coalition of Labor Union Women. She was elected International Vice President in 1998 in Chicago and has continued to devote her efforts to servicing and organizing.

Richard Lanigan became a member of the Retail Clerks Union in 1971, working in a department store while attending high school. Lanigan put himself through college as a member of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union while working for Harry M. Stevens at Roosevelt Raceway.

Upon completing his B.A. in history at SUNY Stony Brook, Lanigan joined OPEIU Local 153 as an Organizer in February 1980.

After working as an Organizer, he was promoted to Business Representative, where he gained experience negotiating contracts, handling grievances and conducting arbitration hearings, all while continuing to organize.

In 1987, Lanigan enrolled as an evening student in New York Law School. In March 1988, he became an assistant to the OPEIU President. International Representatives and Organizers

International Representatives and Organizers are assigned by the International to special projects and to assist Local Unions in circumstances that require additional resources for important representation, bargaining and organizing.

Paul Bohelski
Paul Bohelski joined OPEIU Local 277 on April 2, 1997, and serves as an International Representative based in Region IV. He brings more than 20 years of experience in the labor movement and has been instrumental in organizing helicopter pilots and flight instructors into OPEIU.

Bohelski began his labor career as a job steward for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (IBT) in Chicago, Illinois, and continued involvement in the labor movement with IBT, moving to San Antonio in 1980. After a company merger, the surviving union was the Union of Transportation Employees (UTE), an independent labor union. Under Bohelski’s leadership, UTE affiliated with the OCAW. He was elected to two four-year terms as Business Representative with OCAW Local 1996 and was President from 1994 to 1997.

In his time with OPEIU, he has negotiated contracts with Air Logistics for Gulf Helicopters Company, Dresser Valve, ANICO and Texaco Employees Credit Union in Port Arthur, Texas. He is also now assisting several locals in Region IV with their organizing efforts. In January 2007, Bohelski was promoted to Senior Representative.

Ed Darcy Jr.
Ed Darcy Jr. is a third-generation union activist. His grandfather and grandmother were both activists in the 1940s, and his father began his involvement in the movement in the early 1970s.

Darcy began working at Local 100 in 1988. At first, he assisted the stewards in processing grievances and conducting internal organizing. In a few years, he was working in Tallahassee, Florida, accomplishing lobbying work for the Local Union as well as leading organizing efforts.

In December 1998, Darcy became an OPEIU Organizer. He has been involved in many successful organizing efforts, including the 1,100 Professional Employees of Broward County.

In 2000, he received the Henderson B. Douglas award for organizing. Currently, he is immersed in organizing efforts around the Sunshine State.
Shaun Francis

Shaun Francis began his career in the labor movement in 2006 when, as a Minor League Baseball Umpire, he was elected President of the Association of Minor League Umpires (AMLU). As President of AMLU, Francis led the drive to bring the independent AMLU into the larger labor family by affiliating with OPEIU in 2010. Francis holds an associate degree from Mohawk Valley Community College, and in 2011 he graduated from the Harvard Trade Union Program at Harvard Law School. He has also completed several labor training courses hosted by the National Labor College and the AFL-CIO.

Francis was reelected President of AMLU in 2009 and again in 2012. In 2011, he negotiated a successful new collective bargaining agreement for umpires, with significant pay increases, benefit increases and job security improvements in the new contract. The 2012 baseball season was Francis’ final season on the field in professional baseball when he retired from umpiring and moved to a position on the OPEIU staff. Francis will continue to serve as President of AMLU/OPEIU Guild 322 while he works as an organizer for OPEIU.

Susan French

“Professional Union Agitator” was a term coined by Fox News to belittle labor activists. To Susan French, this phrase is a badge of honor and an apt description of her life’s work. Her family nickname is “PUA.”

In 1980, French was elected from the flight attendant rank-and-file to Business Agent, her first union position. She has since counseled everyone to start at the bottom and work their way up – advice she failed to give herself. Following her term of office, French went to law school while working fulltime as a flight attendant, and in the late 1980s, she was admitted to the California and Texas bars.

French’s legal career was focused on labor and arbitration and family law, where she became certified in mediation and collaborative law. She worked as a Business Agent for OPEIU Local 50 and started as an International Representative and Organizer in 2011.

French is proud to have participated with teams that successfully recertified three units at Local 95 following Wisconsin’s passage of Act 10. She has negotiated contracts at Local 95, organized at Local 19 and worked with Local 35. She was privileged to be a part of the defeat of anti-labor legislation in Ohio. In addition to organizing and bargaining, French has especially enjoyed the role of inspiring union activists and recruiting and training union stewards. She has learned how to create videos and uses them extensively as training and motivational tools.

Patt Gibbs

Patt Gibbs joined OPEIU as an International Representative at the end of 2010 after serving as the Executive Director and Chief Executive Officer for HNA/OPEIU Local 50, a position she served in for two years. Gibbs earned her Juris Doctorate from the University of West Los Angeles School of Law and is an attorney licensed in California and admitted to practice law before the U.S. Federal District Courts of California, the Northern and Eastern Federal District Courts of Texas, and the United States Supreme Court. She is also a trained certified mediator.

Prior to returning to the labor movement with OPEIU, Gibbs focused her legal career in the areas of labor and employment law, representing several labor unions by providing expertise in collective bargaining, interest-based dispute resolution, grievance and arbitration, steward training, advocacy training, and basic fiduciary skill training for rank-and-file union members serving their union in leadership positions. Gibbs also had a career as a flight attendant and served as a union leader for many years.

Gibbs’ many decades of experience as a union member, organizer and leader and her skills as an attorney make her uniquely qualified to serve the various OPEIU Local Unions as an International Representative. She is currently serving as a Trustee for Local 35 and is the main Servicing Representative for OPEIU members of Working America.
Faye Headrick

The Council of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) hired Faye Headrick in January 1977. When the Council was abolished in 1982, she worked for OPEIU Locals 273 and 119 in Tennessee until June 1984, when she was hired by the International Union as a Representative. Since then, she has assisted locals throughout Region III (the Southeastern United States) in servicing members and administering collective bargaining agreements.

Headrick has also served as President of OPEIU Local 179, Vice President of the Tennessee AFL-CIO, and Chairperson of the Salary Policy Employee Panel, which negotiated for the thousands of white-collar employees of TVA. She currently serves as a Senior International Representative.

Paul Huertas

Paul Huertas, an International Representative and Assistant to the President, is currently working on a first contract for the CHC Global engineers and organizing Heli-One engineers in Vancouver, BC, Canada.

Raised in New York, Huertas worked for the Grand Union Grocery Stores until drafted in 1969. He served as an Aviation Warrant Officer in the Army in Vietnam and at Fort Hood, Texas, where he met his wife, Jana, and was married in 1973. They moved back to New York, where he returned to Grand Union. In 1978, the family relocated to Texas and he worked for Safeway stores and flew with the Army Reserve. In 1984, he returned to flying with Petroleum Helicopters, Inc. (PHI), then moved on to Chevron Aviation in 1988 and eventually to Tennessee Gas Pipeline Aviation (TGPA) in 1992. In 1996, he returned to Petroleum Helicopters, Inc., when the job with Tennessee came to an end.

Working the same job at PHI for half the pay inspired Huertas to promote the unionization effort. In 2000, he ran a local newsletter and a Web page and then became a Shop Steward and webmaster for Local 108. In 2006 he became a trustee and was elected Recording Secretary for Local 108 just before they went on strike. While on strike, President Goodwin added Huertas to the staff on a permanent basis.

Huertas oversaw the ALLIANCE Program in Las Vegas, Nevada, from 2007 through 2011, organizing the taxi drivers and administering the benefits program. Huertas also worked on the educational conferences and conducted contract negotiations for CHC Global for Local 103. He aided in the benefits programs for GS/AF/Local 100 in Florida, Local 1 in Indiana, Local 12 in Minnesota, Local 35 in Wisconsin and Local 19 in Ohio. Huertas worked with Local 95 and Local 35 in the fight against Wisconsin’s Act 10 attack on the public sector workers. He was the Nevada State Coordinator for OPEIU Labor 2012 and, with the help of fellow AFL-CIO workers, was able to contribute to the successful election of our candidate to the newly formed congressional seat.

Cesar Mendia

Cesar Mendia is an international organizer for OPEIU.

He was born in Guadalajara, Mexico. During his high school years, he was an active participant in the student union and was elected Vice President in the last year at Colegio de Ciencias y Humanidades.

He studied at the School of Science of Communications at the University Autonomous of Guadalajara, one of the most prestigious private universities in Mexico. During his university years, he was very militant at the FEJ, the students’ federation from the State of Jalisco, where he was elected as a Secretary of Press and Propaganda.

His passion for the mass media led to the opportunity to work as an editor at the Ocho Columnas, a major daily newspaper in Guadalajara. During this journalism exposure, Mendia learned about the Sindicalismo in Mexico, the Mexican union movement. Unfortunately, the political-economic climate changed suddenly in the late 1980s and early 1990s, when almost all of the press and media went into a forced censorship aligning with the then-corrupt government; the few that resisted that trend were either eliminated or shut down. Some journalists were killed, others disappeared and others opted to leave the country to look for better opportunities in a place with more freedom of the press.

Mendia immigrated to the United States in September 1990 with only $40 in his pockets (the equivalent of two weeks of his salary as a journalist) and a suitcase full of books. His first job as a journalist in the Los Angeles area was at La Voz Libre, a weekly newspaper for the Cuban exile community. Through the years, he worked in various jobs in California and became a member of unions such as SEIU and UWUA.
In 2006, he moved to Houston, Texas, where he was hired and trained as a community organizer at ACORN; he was then promoted to an organizer for the Acorn Community and Labor Organizing Center (ACLOC). Mendia has participated as an organizer and volunteer in various campaigns with unions, including SEIU, UFCW, Teamsters, LIUNA, United Farm Workers and USW/ITPEU ALLIANCE.

His passion for organizing encouraged him to take several union courses and training at different schools and universities, including the National Labor College in Washington, D.C.; Cornell University in Ithaca, New York; University of California, Berkeley; the Southwest Organizing School in Santa Fe, New Mexico; Organizing for America training at Las Vegas, Nevada; Interfaith Worker Justice organizer training; and the AFL-CIO Organizing Institute in Chicago, Illinois.

Josué Montijo
Josué Montijo, a Ph.D. candidate (University of Puerto Rico) and writer, was born in Ponce, Puerto Rico.

He began working in 2001 as a project organizer with the International’s Puerto Rico office. Now, as an organizer, he has been involved in diverse and successful campaigns for the General Services Administration, milk industry, Council for Higher Education and Head Start AVANCE, among others.

Gary Nuber
Gary Nuber began his tenure in the labor movement in 1981, becoming a Steward and Bargaining Committee member for a bargaining unit represented by the United Food and Commercial Workers (UFCW).

Based upon this experience, Nuber decided to prepare himself for a career in the labor field and received an associate of arts degree in 1988, a bachelor of arts (with a major in sociology) in 1990, and a master’s of industrial and labor relations in 1992 (all three from the University of Wisconsin).

In January 1993, Nuber was fortunate enough to be hired as the Business Agent for OPEIU Local 95 in scenic and friendly Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin. His five years with Local 95 provided invaluable training and experience in both public and private sector negotiations, grievance handling, mediation, arbitration presentation, legal and arbitral research, organizing, mergers, and membership servicing, as well as the entire spectrum of union operations.

Equipped with the significant experience provided by Local 95, Nuber was hired by the International Union in December 1997 to serve the membership and Local Unions in Region VII.

During these last 16 years with the International, he has been both honored and humbled by his interactions and experiences.

Nuber has developed a deep sense of pride and respect for OPEIU as an organization; its insightful and sage leadership and officers; his very talented and knowledgeable fellow field staff members (the best field staff in the business); the hardworking, dedicated and ever-friendly New York staff; and certainly the deeply courageous and vigilant membership and Local Unions in Region VII.

Nuber’s 21 years of combined service to OPEIU have been full of challenges, rewards, failures, victories, frustration, satisfaction, miscalculations, triumphs and often exhaustion, with enough humor sprinkled in to help avoid taking himself too seriously. He is thankful for it all.

Shelia Peacock
Shelia Peacock has been on the International staff since March 2000 and has a long history in the labor movement.

Council Leaders

Paige Yates RN
Chair
OPEIU Nurses Council (ONC)

Paige Yates has been a member of Local 22 OPEIU for more than 12 years. She has been employed by St. Vincent Health Systems as a Registered Nurse for 18 years. She was on the first negotiations committee for Local 22, and after ratification of their first contract she became a Steward.

For the last seven years, Yates has been President of Local 22. In August 2011, she became Vice Chair of the newly formed OPEIU Nurses Council (ONC). In May 2012, she was elected to serve as ONC Chair.

Joan Craft RN
Vice Chair
OPEIU Nurses Council (ONC)

After working her way through nursing school and earning her Bachelor of Science in Nursing from New York University (NYU), Craft joined the staff of NYU Medical Center as a registered nurse.

Her union epiphany was the realization that nurses at NYU Medical Center needed union representation. She contacted a union and began to form a committee to organize nurses at NYU.

Having grown up in Hawaii, when the opportunity to work at the Queens Medical Center in Oahu, Hawaii, arose, Craft answered the call. She returned home to work in an intensive care unit at Queens with professional credentials, her RN and five years of nursing experience at NYU Medical Center. At Queens she joined the Hawai'i Nurses’ Association (HNA).

Her first union experience as a member of HNA came when she and her fellow nurses found themselves on strike against their employer, the Queens Medical Center. This experience galvanized her belief in the importance of a union in the working life of a nurse. She then became an active member of her union, HNA.

In 2005, Craft was elected Vice President of HNA. She served as the Chairperson of the HNA collective bargaining committee, the committee that evaluated all grievances in HNA and determined whether such grievances would go to arbitration or be settled or withdrawn.

In 2007, she became the Vice President of the 100,000-member United American Nurses, AFL-CIO, the first all-nurse national union. This role required extensive travel and gave her broad exposure to the work-related and professional issues facing nurses throughout the United States.

In 2010, she became President of HNA. As President, Craft made her goal the transition of HNA from an association to a trade union, a project she has worked on since being elected. In 2010, she was a critical player in the HNA affiliation with OPEIU, a major step toward her goal of bringing HNA into the labor movement.

In 2011, after 40 years of HNA representing nurses for collective bargaining in Hawaii, Craft became the first HNA representative to serve as a Vice President of the Hawaii State AFL-CIO.

She served as a Board member of the Center for Nursing Advisory Board and is a member of the National Association of Parliamentarians. She also has been certified in Critical Care and Neuroscience.

Craft’s busy life is a balance of working as a union official and working as a nurse.

Dina Carlisle RN
Secretary-Treasurer
OPEIU Nurses Council (ONC)

Dina Carlisle has been a member of RN Staff Council, Local 40 for 13 years. She has served Local 40 as a Steward and on the negotiating committee and as a Trustee on the Executive Board since 2005.

Carlisle currently is serving her second term as Secretary-Treasurer of the OPEIU Nurses Council (ONC). Licensed as a Registered Nurse in 1996, with experience in oncology and labor and delivery, she currently is a critical care nurse at McLaren Macomb, Mt. Clemens, Michigan.

Carlisle was a recipient of the Nightingale Nominee Nursing Award in 2003. She is the mother of two daughters, Kristen and Danielle, and proud grandmother of Elliana and Christiano.
Captain Steven Rush was elected President of the Professional Helicopter Pilots Association International (PHPA) on February 12, 2012. PHPA is a council within OPEIU that brings together all of its 2,200 helicopter pilots located throughout the United States and Canada.

Rush was President of Local 102 for 12 years, a founding member of the PHPA Council and a force behind its establishment in 2002.

After handing the leadership of Local 102 over to his Vice President in 2012, Rush undertook the position of Trustee of Local 109 at the request of International President Michael Goodwin.

With a flight career that spans four decades and includes more than 12,000 aircraft hours and 8,000 hours in flight simulators, Rush began his career in the Army in December 1970. After flight training at Fort Rucker, Alabama, he served in Korea for a year and then returned to Fort Rucker to serve as a military flight instructor until leaving active duty in 1977.

After departing active duty, Rush traveled to Alaska to fly for the Alaskan Pipeline project and other related North Slope contracts. Returning to Fort Rucker in 1978 as a civilian flight instructor, Rush was employed on DOD Flight Training Contracts for 32 years. During that time, he also spent 16 years in the U.S. Army Reserve flying Hueys and Black Hawks, retiring in 1994 at the rank of CW4.

Rush succeeds Captain Butch Grafton, who had served as PHPA President since its establishment in 2002.

Rush is also President/Chair of the International Professional Helicopter Pilots Association (IPHPA), a member association in the International Federation of Airline Pilots Association (IFALPA), which is a global group of pilot unions. IPHPA was inducted into IFALPA as the founding member for helicopter pilots in 2012.

Reminder Regarding Form 35

All Local Unions are reminded that they must comply with Article XIX, Section 10, of the OPEIU Constitution regarding procedures for check-off of contributions to the J.B. Moss Voice of the Electorate (VOTE) Fund. Section 10 reads:

“Effective July 1, 2010, all Local Unions in the United States shall ascertain whether any employer(s) with which the Local Union has a collective bargaining agreement allows its stockholders, executives, or administrative personnel to contribute to an employer Political Action Committee Fund (PAC) through payroll deduction. Any employer which allows any such payroll deduction must be required to permit employees in the bargaining unit to utilize the same procedures for check-off of contributions to the J.B. Moss Voice of the Electorate Fund.

“In all collective bargaining negotiations which begin on or after July 1, 2010, each Local Union in the United States must vigorously pursue agreement with the employer(s) to a provision permitting check-off of contributions to the J.B. Moss Voice of the Electorate Fund.

“All Local Unions in the United States shall be required to use a standard form(s) approved by the International Union Executive Board for check-off of dues, fees and/or J.B. Moss Voice of the Electorate Fund contributions.”

The International has prepared Form 35 and made it available to all Local Unions for this purpose. OPEIU also urges all Local Unions to include a discussion of the J.B. Moss VOTE Fund on all membership meeting agendas and to make Form 35 sign-up cards available at all meetings.
Local 39 Has New Contract with CUNA Mutual

On May 2, 2013, employees represented by Local 39 in Madison, Wisconsin, voted to ratify a new contract with CUNA Mutual that includes across-the-board salary increases.

“With the membership and community behind us, we were able to fight back against the anti-union language and the worst of the proposed concessions,” said Local 39 Business Representative Debra Eveland. “This contract was a compromise on both sides.”

Although there were some concessions, the bargaining committee was able to make some significant gains. In addition to the salary increases, the committee was able to secure lump sum payments for those over the new maximums; retroactive pay to April 1, 2013; a ratification bonus; maintenance of the 37.5-hour work schedule; and the addition of work-at-home language, among several other improvements.

The bargaining committee was composed of Eveland, Chief Steward Karen Maund, and Stewards Laura Lowrey, Nancy Dietzman-Mills, Phil Miller and Susan Voyce. OPEIU Assistant to the President Gary Kirkland was also instrumental in securing this contract.

Faculty at Monsignor Farrell Vote for OPEIU Representation!

Faculty at Monsignor Farrell High School in Staten Island, New York, have voted to be represented by the Federation of Catholic Teachers (FCT), an affiliate of Local 153 in New York.

The vote is the end of a four-year odyssey to get the 75 teachers an election, reports International Vice President and Local 153 Secretary-Treasurer Richard Lanigan. The mail ballot was overseen by the New York State Public Employment Relations Board (NYSPERB). “We are waiting for official certification from New York state, and then we will begin the bargaining process,” said Lanigan. “It’s been a long struggle, but we won!”

“We are so happy that this long journey has resulted in our being able to represent these faculty members,” said FCT President Pat Gabriel. “We are thrilled to have them as FCT members.”

Local 2 Steward Stands Up for His Members

Christopher Levy has always believed in making a difference in people’s lives. Being the Local 2 Shop Steward means he gets to do that every day for the members he serves. In this position, he advocates on behalf of the members, helps solve disputes and grievances, helps enforce the negotiated contract with the employer, and is responsible for new job postings and positions.

Keep in mind, this is in addition to his job at National Labor College (NLC), where he works in the marketing and communication department and is responsible for the website, email marketing and social media. When Levy came to work at NLC four years ago he wanted to learn more about his union and be more involved, so after a lot of encouragement, he became a shop steward.

“My favorite part of being a steward is that I enjoy giving members a voice and putting them on an even playing field with management, standing up for people and what is right, and getting to know all our members and helping them in any way I can,” said Levy.

Educational opportunities are another benefit of being an OPEIU member and working at NLC. In September, Levy took part in a weeklong “Organizing I” class at NLC. His experience was positive in so many ways.

“These classes are great because in a lot of shops and locals, the union staff is very busy and there aren’t a lot of educational opportunities. NLC is great because it gives me the tools to do my best work and serve my members better. I got to meet a lot of different people doing my members’ same types of jobs. Sharing the experiences with them is rewarding. I learned so much from my classmates who were from different industries and diverse geographic locations,” said Levy.

How to get new, young members is something that Levy is always thinking about. He got to share his experiences as an OPEIU delegate to Next-Up, the AFL-CIO’s initiative to get young people involved in the labor movement and develop young union leaders. He went to Minneapolis, Minnesota, with 700 union members under the age of 35—more than 100 of whom were OPEIU members—to discuss strategies for getting more people involved in the labor movement to keep fighting for what we believe in!

Levy doesn’t know exactly what his future holds, but he knows that being a shop steward for OPEIU makes him proud of what he does every day.

To learn more about educational opportunities, visit www.nlc.edu/start. NLC is the only college in the United States with an exclusive mission to serve the educational needs of the labor movement. The fully online programs allow union members to complete their degrees on their own time and are less expensive than in-state schools.
Local 29 Organizes Certified Massage Therapists at Sacramento International Airport

Local 29 and the California Labor Federation announce that certified massage therapists employed by Massage Bar Inc. at the Sacramento International Airport have voted for Local 29 representation.

“The entire organizing process took less than six weeks, beginning with a meeting and card signing with Massage Bar therapists on February 2, 2013, and culminating with a successful National Labor Relations Board election on March 16,” said Local 29 Business Representative/Organizer Sofan Harris.

“To counter an anti-union campaign waged by the company, Local 29 sought the assistance of our fellow unions that represent workers at the airport,” Harris continued. “With the help of the Sacramento Labor Council, the AFGE, TSA and UNITE HERE Local 49, who reached out to the employees at the airport and shared their own recent labor victories, we were able to get more than 70 percent of the workforce at Massage Bar to vote for Local 29 representation.” Local 29 will begin collective bargaining with the company in the near future.

Local 30 Creates “Generation Next”

Taking direction from OPEIU’s Rising Stars program, Local 30 is excited to announce the creation of the new Local 30 “Generation Next” Youth Council.

Local 30 created Generation Next because it recognized the need to gain interest and involvement from young members of the Local Union (ages 18–40) to empower them to eventually take leadership roles within their union.

Monthly meetings are being held to help the Generation Next members gain valuable leadership skills. Various training topics are planned, including a history of the labor movement, one-on-one communication, organizing basics, collective bargaining skills, grievance handling skills, public speaking and political action training.

Local 30’s first training session, held February 27, 2013, was a tremendous success, setting a positive tone for all attendees. The group had a lively discussion about the importance of building strong leadership within the union, putting education and training at the forefront of the agenda.
